LOCAL MATTERS.

Weather Probabilities, January 24, 1880.-For the Middle States, clear or fair weather, and undecided change in temperature, northwest to northeast winds, followed during the night or on Tuesday morning by threatening weather, light snow and falling barometer.

Religious.—The clear sky, bright sucshine, and bracing, healthy temperature of yesterday brought out good congregations to all the churches. In the First Presbyterian Church, R.v. Mr. Todd, of Msnessas, preached in the In the First Presbyterian Church morning and afternoon. Rev. F. M. Mills, of de M. E. Church, preached to the congregaon of the Union Presbyterian Church, in the merning. There was no service in this church Rev. T. D. Valiant, President of the Maryland Conference, preached an intrresting sermed in the M. P. Church in the morning, it v. Mr. Boyle, of the M. E. Church, and it v. Mr. Penick, of the Baptist Church, exchanged pulpits at night. The pulpits of the other churchs were filed by the regular elergy. An interesting and largely attended gospel temperance meeting was held in the helt of the Alexandria Reform Club yesterday afternoon, presided over and addressed by Rey, Dr. Mills, of the M. P. Church.

During the past work, successful and inter-esting revival services have been conducted in the M. E. Church, by Rev. Mr. Pearce, the paster. Last night the church was crowded nation at this church, necording to the rules of mule, the conference of which he is a member, is Mr. rapidly drawing to a close and Dr. J. The people in this city, to whem he has preached so acceptably, highly appreciate his valuable services, and look upon their friends at Manassas as greatly favored by having such a man among them.

DEATH OF CHALKLEY GILLINGHAM, ESO -Charley Gillingham, esq., died at his residence Woodlawr, Fairfax ecuaty, on Saturday last, after a long illness, in the 74th year of his age. It was a native of Frankford, Pa., now a suburb of Philadelphia, and came to Fairfax county about 1850, where he established, in corjunction with Mr. John Mason, what is known as the "Wesdlawe Settler ent," a short distance from Al. xandrin, composed principally of thrilty, intelligent farmers from Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The was one of the beat informed agricultural men in this section of Vir. Dealers. Twonty-five cants a bottle. Beware of mileters and presented agricultural men in this section of Vir. gibia, and was a few years ago prominently mentioned in connection with the position of United States Commissioner of Agriculture.
He was an cornest and efficient worker in every enterprise that had for its object the benefit of his brother farmers. On the organization of the 15th instant, at 2 o'cleck p. m. the Woodlawn Farmers Club, he was elected President, which position he held up to the time of his death; he was also President of the Potomae Fruit Growers' Association. The news of his death will be received by a large circle of friends with regret, and his place in the community, where he labored with so much success, will be Occoounn Flooded by the Breaking Ur or THE ICE.—The ice in Occoquan Bay suddenly broke up Friday night about twelve o'cleek, flooding the lower portion of that quiet town, and doing considerable damage by the washing away of a large amount of property. The ice gave way with a loud noise, arousing the sleeping inhabitants, but the warning was too late to enable them to save any of the large quantity of lumber, rairead dies, hoops, &c., piled up on the whatves ready for shipment. The rushing waters swept everything in their course out of the bay into the river. Thirty five thousand feet of fice oak lumber, recently pur chased by a Baltimore firm, gotten out in large heavy planks, piled up, were carried away like splinters; together with two buggies belonging to Mr. Seleeman; a large number of railroad ties to onging to Messrs. Selecman and Lyan; a great quantity of cooperage, and many cords of wood. Mr. John Marshall, of this city, who crived a check for the same. At night they were all washed away. A longboat belonging to Mr. Underwood, houled up for repairs was carried a distance below the town, where the ice is banked up to a considerable height, and suck. The wearres and other property amounting to some thousands of dellars.

The House Committee on Commerce, it is understood, will consider to morrow the proposition to make an appropriation for the reela mation of the Potomac flats. It is also understood that while in favor of such reclamation they think it should be done by a separate bill.

The House Committee on Commerce this morning agreed to amend the Cox apportionment bill so as to provide for 311 instead of 301.

The democratic side of the House was unusually full to day, in consequences of a determination to push through, if possible, the bil for counting the presidential electoral vote, but the republicans are showing a disposition to delay it.

Pophani's recent statement about the alleged part Senater Ransom is to play in the ergonization of the next Senate according to the Mahone plan, it is only needs sary to any that all who know the Senator are aware that he will do nothing in this respect that can possibly injure the democrtic party or any of its true and conistent members. Dr. Loring, of the House, is preparing a bill on the cattle pleuro pnomonia, which the Senate Committee on Agriculture will probably report to morrow.

Senator Johnston to day presented a me-morial from the Bright Hepe Railroad Co., whose road russ from the A. O. & M. R. R. to the James river at the point where the Du'ch Gap canal was subsequently made, praying for damages, icasmuch as the construction of that canal has obstructed the river below the terminus of their road, and thereby injured its value.

There was quite an exciting debate in the Senate to day on Mr. Logan's bill to put Gen. Grant on the retired list of the army with full general's pay. It was participated in by Messre, Hill, Vest, Legan and Butler, Mr. Hill reiterated the statement that Gen. Grapt was the one man without whom the late war would not have resulted as it did. Mr. Vest said the republicins must take care of their own dead and wounded, as the democrats had enough of their own to look after, and that the Grant obsequies at Chicago was none of their funeral. He also said that he was utterly opposed to the bill, and the mere so because of the remarkable vacilations of Gen. Grant respecting the Southern question. Mr. Butler said he could not be dragooned into voting for the bill. Mr. Logan said the defeat of the bill. if it be defeated, would be due to the partisan prejudice of the democrats. The consideration of the bill was defeated by a vote of 25 to 29, Messis. Lamar and McPherson voting with all the Expublicaes.

Among the appointments sent to the Senate be collector of internal revenue for the 4th dis-S. Marshal fer West Virginia; E. C. Billings, Judge Advecate General.

FIVE MEN BURNED TO DEATH. - Four postal elerks and a messenger were lurned to death through an accident on the Eric railway early yesterday merning. When five miles west of Owego one of the driving wheel axels of the lecometive broke close up to the wheel, and the entire train was thrown off the track. The train was going at the rate of 35 miles no hour. The accident occured on a h vel where there was no embankment. The engine kept its upright position, the engineer applying the air brakes es seen as he felt the sheek. The cars were stopped very quickly, and the forward ones turned over and over two or three times, some going on one side of the track and seme on the other. The engineer and fireman escaped un-hurt. The postal cir contained four clerks. It almost justantly took fire and burned with great rapidity. The oil lamps used probably exstoves. Every man in this eve, four in all, was roasted to a cri p. Henry C. Brewer, of Elmira, the messenger was in the express car. Efforts were at once made to relieve him by breaking a hole in a side door. He managed to get his head through this hole, but the doomed man's legs were fistened inside by the piled up mass of express matter. The train men made every effort to pull him out, but the fismes drave them away. It was noticed that his hair and whiskers had been bursed off. He put his hand up to his eyes and, receding, disappeared in the flame. The victims must have perished very quickly, as not a sound come from the wreek to denote their presence.

OYSTER WAR .- About the 9th or 10th in. clant a fleet of fourteen or fifteen dredge boats attempted to repeat their experiments of last winter, and entering the mouth of the Rappahanneck, began to dredge for cysters, in open violation of the law. The authorities of Middlesex sent at once to Saiula for the cannon with which Gov. Holliday had supplied the ecuaty, and as there were many old veterans in the county who had served in Ficet's battery during "the late unpleasantness," there was no difficulty in manning the piece. The gun was placed on the river near North Eod, in the lower part of the county, and on the following morning the same fleet appeared in the river and resumed dredging operations. The capnon then opened on them, and the first round was returned by a volly from the fleet, delivered amid cheers from the oyster pirates. The cannon, a Whitworth, which formerly belonged to the Richmond Howitzers, was fired a second time with better effect, the shot striking one of the dredgers in her rigging. The whole floot then made straight for the mouth of the river, their speed being accelerated by the shots sent after them. The illegal dredgers are mostly from Philadelphia or New Jersey, and a Balti more boat is occasionally found among them.
